SUMMARY

Junior Fullstack Developer with a passion for clean code, modern web technologies, and continuous learning. I enjoy building full-stack applications using React, Next.js, Node.js, and MongoDB — from intuitive user interfaces to REST APIs and authentication systems. Through personal and team projects, I have gained hands-on experience with frontend and backend development, state management, and database integration. My analytical mindset and mathematical background help me approach problems logically and create reliable, user-focused solutions.
